Description

A pair of carved and gilded wooden reliquary frames, displaying under glass examples of conventual craftwork combining relics, paper strips, small metal ornaments, beads, and colorful glass beads. In the center are polychrome devotional images depicting Saint Elizabeth and Saint Thomas, surrounded by relics of various saints identified by handwritten scrolls. A work of religious folk art, characteristic of devotional productions from convents and shrines in the Alpine region. Tyrol, circa 1800. Gilded wood, paper, relics, metal, beads, and glass beads, under glass. Signs of wear, damage, and losses in the gilding, consistent with its age.
