Description

A 1950s table with a distinctive base consisting of three interwoven support elements, crafted from turned wood with a bamboo-like finish. The brass joints add a touch of elegance and structural strength. The tabletop is made of clear glass, offering an unobstructed view of the intricate base and creating a balance between transparency and solidity. The complete restoration ensures that all components are in excellent condition, preserving the authenticity of the original design. Perfect for spaces that call for a centerpiece of great aesthetic and historical value. MOTATA0323801
