Description

An elegant porcelain figurine depicting two young girls captured in a moment of play, portrayed in a lively, dynamic composition as they hold hands. The figures are finely sculpted and feature delicate details, with softly draped garments decorated with multicolored floral motifs. The pastel shades of the dresses and the careful rendering of the faces and hairstyles give the piece a particularly graceful and refined appearance. The composition rests on an elegant oval porcelain base, which is also finely crafted. Produced by ENS, Rudolstadt, Germany, circa 1920. A refined example of German porcelain from the early decades of the 20th century, ideal for collectors or as a decorative piece in a classic setting.
