Description

An elegant pair of two-arm wall sconces in the Louis XVI style, crafted from fine gilded bronze, with a slender, ultimately solitary form and a neoclassical motif, making them very elegant. They feature two arms. The vertical shaft depicts a drapery panel held in place by a knot that culminates in a carved double-pompon motif. Two arms in a twisted volute design, adorned with leaf-motif rosettes on the sides supporting chiseled candle holders with fluted sides and godron-decorated cups. In very fine condition, with bright gilding and a beautiful patina. This elegant wall sconce is not electrified, as it was designed for candles.
