Description

A very elegant Legras vase from the Art Nouveau period, made of glass in a predominantly powder-pink hue, featuring a beautiful frosted and textured effect. The vase is adorned with a delicate, stylized floral design in shades of pink, plum, and purple, depicting finely rendered fuchsia flowers and foliage. The enameled decoration stands out harmoniously against the frosted background of the glass. The ovoid shape, slightly flared at the neck, is particularly elegant and typical of Legras's Art Nouveau production. The piece bears a painted "Legras" signature on the design.
