Description

An elegant 18th-century Louis XIV-style stone fireplace, featuring beautiful proportions and a particularly harmonious design. Its lintel, adorned with a scalloped pattern, lends it a great deal of character. The facade is accentuated by beautiful molding, with a understated and refined design that highlights the architectural lines of the entire piece. The jambs, featuring consoles with generously curved profiles, elegantly complement the lintel's movement and lend this fireplace a striking presence. The stone, bearing a natural, aged patina, reveals the traces of time and fully contributes to the authentic charm of this piece. Its timeless aesthetic allows it to blend seamlessly into both a historic home and a contemporary interior seeking an architectural element with character.
