Description

Théodore Bouisset - Large Oval Painting, Pierrot and an Elegant Lady - Art Deco Period - 130 × 86 cmA highly decorative and significant oval painting, signed T. Bouisset in the lower right corner, depicting an elegant woman accompanied by Pierrot in a wooded park. The young woman, dressed in a shimmering gown and wearing a spectacular red feathered hat, stands leaning against a tree. Beside her stands Pierrot, in his traditional white costume, holding a black mask in his hand. The composition is particularly captivating due to its theatrical and romantic atmosphere, as well as its palette of yellows, reds, greens, and natural tones. The highly decorative treatment of the scene is fully in keeping with the taste of the first half of the 20th century, the Art Deco period. The work is signed "T. Bouisset" in the lower right corner. This signature may be linked to Théodore Bouisset, a French artist active in the 20th century about whom little is known. Out of an abundance of caution, we therefore present the work with this attribution, without providing further biographical details. Its exceptional size--130 cm in height--gives it a striking presence. This work may also have been originally conceived as a large decorative panel intended for interior design. Dimensions: 130 × 86 cm Signature: T. Bouisset, lower right Period: first half of the 20th century Style: Art Deco Subject: Pierrot and an elegant woman in a park Shape: oval The work exhibits a patina and some visible signs of age, particularly along the edges, which are worth noting and contribute to its antique character. A spectacular, original, and highly decorative piece, particularly well-suited for a spacious interior, a collection dedicated to the decorative arts, or an Art Deco-style setting.
