3 Panels Painted On Porcelain

800 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Porcelain

Width : (avec cadres) petit: 14cm / moyen: 13,5cm / grand: 38,5cm

Height : (avec cadres) petit: 23,5cm / moyen: 25cm / grand: 56cm

Description

We are presenting this set of three hand-painted porcelain plates in frames (made of exotic woods) from China, of course. All three were displayed together in the estate where we purchased them.The largest is a Jengderhem (CIBAUJ) plate, featuring a court painting style depicting Taoist immortals in the clouds --likely produced in the late 19th century (Qing Dynasty) or early 20th century (Republican era)One of the two small framed plates (Cibenhua) is hand-painted with "famille rose" enamels.From the same period, featuring a Chinese folk theme related to celebrations and wishes for happiness.The thread you see is not a strand of hair or a flaw; it is simply a thread connected to the multicolored, auspicious clouds where a small celestial creature is depicted. The second is a Chinese porcelain

Dealer

Forezienne d'antiquités
Antiquaire généraliste
Mobile : 06 73 22 83 89

10 bis avenue de la libération
Montbrison 42600

plaque likely depicting the god of longevity (Sbron Xing) or a sage surrounded by children holding a "fu" symbol of happiness. From the same period.All are in perfect condition
Shipping not included