Description

Stunning mid-century Italian iron bench in an industrial style, upholstered in sand-colored vintage leather, from the 1960s. This bench, with its clean, minimalist lines, stands out for its simplicity and its understated vintage leather in natural tones. The legs protrude slightly, giving the bench an even more angular appearance, and its lines are further accentuated by an additional profile. The vintage finish features a dark brown-green hue, which we have only lightly cleaned. The seat cushion extends slightly beyond the edge, giving the bench even more character; the padding and vintage-look leather are brand new.
