Description

A beautiful ring Belle Époque in platinum, adorned with three half-cut diamonds arranged vertically and surrounded by small diamonds delicately set in a garland. The total weight of the diamonds is estimated at between 2.4 and 2.8 carats. The openwork setting, delicate and elegant, is characteristic of Belle Époque jewelry, with its light design and setting technique that particularly highlights the stones' brilliance. A Belle Époque piece, circa 1900-1910. In very fine condition. Gross weight: 5 g
