Description

An elegant modernist sculpture in Moca-Crème from Portugal, created by sculptor Marcel Cossin. The work depicts a stylized fish, rendered in a resolutely modern and minimalist style. The silhouette is constructed from geometric volumes and fluid lines, beautifully highlighting the head, eye, and caudal fin. The stonework alternates between smooth surfaces and rougher textures, bringing out the natural cream and speckled hues of the Moca-Crème. The base, carved from the same stone, is an integral part of the composition and lends it excellent stability.
