Description

Oil on canvas. Northern European school, mid-19th century. In a lush green countryside landscape, near the well with its trough, several farmers and travelers have stopped with their carts to rest, fill their water jugs, and wash their clothes. Previously restored and re-stretched in the traditional manner, the painting currently shows signs of damage and slight color loss. It is presented in a beautiful gilded frame from the late 19th century. ARAROT0312181
