

Patinated Bronze Bowl Decorated With Tritons And Putti, Cast By Georgeon -- 19th Century

850 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Diameter : 15 cm

Height : 25 cm

Description

An elegant bronze bowl with a nuanced dark brown patina, resting on an Atlantean figure with fishtail legs--depicting either a Triton or Neptune--who holds a flared basin aloft with outstretched arms. The body of the basin is adorned with a high-relief scene depicting putti and tritons among reeds and aquatic plants, in the neo-classical style popular during the Second Empire. The upper rim is embellished with a frieze of leafy scrollwork. The piece rests on a hexagonal base with a gilded groove bearing the double signature in relief: CARÊME BORDEAUX (sculptor or patron) and GEORGEON FONDEUR. Likely a high-quality piece rooted in the 19th-century Bordeaux tradition. Fine cast iron quality, with a uniform patina of age. Dimensions: H. 25 cm / W. 15 cm
