Description

Egon Karl Nicolaus (1928-1988) was a German painter whose work is part of the European lyrical abstraction movement of the 1960s and 1970s. His compositions, characterized by intense color, explore the relationships between material, color, and movement through a free and expressive gestural style. This oil on paper, dating from the 1960s-1970s, is a unique work of great visual power. Shades of purple, black, pink, and turquoise are arranged in broad blocks of color and gestural strokes, creating an atmosphere that is both cosmic and introspective. The deliberately textured surface gives the work a remarkable physical presence. Technique: Oil on paper Dimensions: 64 × 49 cm Subject: Lyrical abstract composition Signature: Signed lower right Estimated date: 1960s-1970s Medium: Paper,
