Description

An etching dating from the second half of the 19th century, depicting the interior of the Basilica of Saint Agnes Outside the Walls, on Via Nomentana in Rome, with delicate hand-applied color and watercolor. The print presents a refined perspective view of the interior of the famous basilica, characterized by a succession of columns, arches, and the women's gallery, leading up to the monumental apse area with the ciborium and architectural decorations. The rendering of the architecture is particularly striking, enhanced by hand-colored details in warm, soft tones that lend depth and atmosphere to the composition. The small figures placed within the scene help highlight the grandeur of the space and the perspective effect. A work of historical, artistic, and decorative interest, particularly suited for
