Description

A stunning Art Deco side table made of burl walnut that opens down the middle. It features a 40-cm fold-out extension, transforming it into a handy little dining table. In 30 years, I had never seen this ingenious mechanism on a side table from this period. It was undoubtedly a custom order crafted in a workshop known for its fine craftsmanship, as the quality of the workmanship is remarkable. It rests on a central column that ends in a circular base. The sliding mechanism works perfectly. It is in perfect condition.
