Description

The Art of Collage: A Mirror Covered with Cigar Bands
A collage of cigar bands featuring the Statue of Liberty in the center
In the early 20th century, completely covering objects with colored paper cigar bands was a very popular pastime. The bands were carefully cut out and glued into patterns, then coated with a layer of lacquer or clear varnish to protect the paper and give it a shine 47 cm in diameter and 2 cm high
On the back is a sticker from D. Schleiper of Brussels, proving that the mirror was made around 1940
