Description

Large decorative wall mirror made of woven rattan and bamboo, likely dating from the 1970s or 1980s. This piece stands out for its generous, multicolored woven frame, composed of intertwined strands that create a highly graphic and sculptural design. The slightly curved shape at the top gives it an elegant and unique silhouette. The frame's design evokes decorative pieces made from natural fibers that are highly prized in Riviera-style, vintage, or organic modern interiors. This mirror brings warmth, texture, and personality to any space. It can be hung above a console table, a dresser, or in an entryway, living room, or bedroom. Its large size and expressive frame make it a true decorative statement piece. A striking vintage mirror that is both decorative and functional. Features Period:
