Description

Eugène-Ernest Hillemacher. Charcoal drawing, highlighted with white and red using chalk or pastel, "The Noble Student with Red Trim," signed and dated in the middle right: E. Hillemacher 1876. 23 x 16.8 cm. French School. Eugène-Ernest Hillemacher (1818-1887) was a student of Léon Cogniet (1794-1880) at the École des Beaux-Arts beginning in 1838. He began exhibiting at the Salon as early as 1840 with historical paintings, portraits, and genre paintings. It was the latter that earned him public acclaim. Museums in Auch, Besançon, Brest, Château-Thierry, Compiègne, Dijon, Montpellier, and Rouen in France, as well as in Melbourne, Australia, hold works by him (Sources: Bénézit Dictionary of Painters and Sculptors).
