Description

A beautiful, intimate painting depicting a woman and a pianist in an interior setting. The light is subtly rendered, and the brushwork is lively and precise. The painting is in very good condition (a few small, discreet cracks). This is a work by Armand Massonet, a Belgian painter born in Saint Gilles in 1892 and who died in Jette in 1979. He studied at the Brussels Academy of Fine Arts and also at the École Nationale Supérieure des Beaux-Arts in Paris. Massonet's work reveals a particular talent for capturing movement and light. His paintings often explore the themes of music and dance, featuring portraits of jazz bands and pianists. His works are featured in museums in Brussels, Virton, Reims, and Riga. Canvas dimensions: 61 cm x 50 cm. With frame: 72 cm x 61 cm.
