Description

Set of three modular armchairs from the "Antelami" series, designed by Kazuhide Takahama for Simon Gavina in the 1970s. Featuring foam padding, these armchairs stand out for their velvet upholstery in iridescent shades of white, which lends them a understated elegance and makes them suitable for a variety of interior settings. Their versatility is enhanced by the ability to connect them to form a small sofa, offering flexibility in space organization. They are in excellent condition, showcasing the high-quality craftsmanship and attention to detail typical of the period. MOSEPO0326696
