Description

A beautiful and elegant pair of Italian lamps by Leone Aliotti, Rome, dating from the late 20th century. The baluster-shaped legs are crafted from ribbed molded crystal and adorned with a rich gilded bronze frame. They rest on a square crystal base, which in turn is supported by small gilded bronze feet decorated with lion's claws. Delicate, movable gilded bronze handles, positioned on either side of the body, harmoniously complete this classically inspired composition. The lamps are topped with beautiful ivory-colored pleated shades, which are particularly elegant and well-proportioned. A pair of high-quality decorative lamps, whose combination of crystal and gilded bronze brings great luminosity and refinement. Period: late 20th century Condition: excellent condition Dimensions: total height 72
