Description

A substantial regional sideboard made of solid oak, dating from the late 18th century, in the Louis XV style. The front features three doors and a central drawer. The beautiful front is richly carved with flowering branches, foliage, and volutes, featuring molded panels and a scalloped lower rail. The upper section is accented by an elegant carved frieze. The interior, offering ample storage space, was later fitted with shelves and lined with a floral fabric (which will be removed for the sale). Traditional antique construction, with a back made of wide vertical planks. Beautiful oak patina and particularly decorative proportions. Period: late 18th century. Style: Regional Louis XV. Material: solid oak. Dimensions: Height: 112 cm; Width: 189 cm; Depth: 54 cm Delivery/installation in metropolitan
