

Eutrope Bouret (1833-1906), Known As Bourety -- Oriental-style Female Figure With A Fan -- Bronze

850 EUR

Signature : Eutrope BOURET (1833-1906) DIT BOURETY

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Bronze

Height : 35

Description

EUTROPE BOURET (1833-1906) Oriental-style female figure with a fan
Bronze with a brown and golden-brown patina
An elegant bronze sculpture depicting a young woman dressed in Oriental style, holding a fan and flanked by a column adorned with Egyptian-inspired motifs. The piece rests on a stepped architectural base. The finesse of the modeling, the rendering of the drapery, and the decorative nature of the composition are characteristic of the work of Eutrope Bouret, a French sculptor active during the second half of the 19th century. Born in Paris in 1833, Eutrope Bouret was a student of Louis Buhot and began exhibiting at the Salon in 1875, where he regularly presented his works until 1903. He worked in bronze, marble, terracotta, and plaster and was particularly appreciated for his female

Dealer

1900

Antiques store

Tel : 0768068473

Mobile : 0768068473

2 rue Monseigneur Lavarenne

Lyon 69005

figures and genre subjects. He received an honorable mention at the 1885 Salon. His works are represented in public collections, notably La Liseuse at the Musée de Meaux. He also created the bronze bust of the writer Alexis Bouvier, intended for his grave at Père-Lachaise. Period: late 19th century Artist: Eutrope Bouret (1833-1906) Material: bronze Patina: brown and golden-brown Height: approximately 35 cm Signature: mark/signature on the base, to be examined Condition: good overall condition