Description

An elegant religious sculpture depicting the Virgin and Child, carved in the round from ivory. The Virgin holds the Baby Jesus in her arms in a composition imbued with tenderness and serenity. The delicately modeled face, long wavy hair, and refined rendering of the drapery attest to meticulous and particularly harmonious sculptural craftsmanship. The sculpture features a beautiful antique patina with shades of ivory and honey, as well as a soft polish characteristic of antique ivory objects. The style and quality of execution are in keeping with the tradition of 19th-century European religious sculpture, with stylistic affinities to French works, particularly the ivory-carving tradition of Dieppe. Period: 19th century, circa 1820-1880. Origin: France, stylistic attribution. Material: carved ivory. Height:
