Description

Art Deco Period A patinated bronze sculpture on a marble base from the Art Deco period, signed by Édouard Drouot--famous for his depiction of movement and his tributes to workers--the artist presents us here with a powerful agricultural allegory. Édouard Drouot (1859-1945) was a highly renowned sculptor whose career spanned the late 19th century (Art Nouveau) through the Art Deco period. He is famous for his allegorical figures, mythological subjects, and depictions of labor (workers, peasants, blacksmiths). Signed "DROUOT" on the right side of the marble. Édouard Drouot, a student of Mathurin Moreau at the École des Beaux-Arts in Paris. Member of the Salon des Artistes Français, where he received an honorable mention in 1889 and a third-class medal in 1892. Honorable mention at
