Description

A gold-leaf lacquer work by Gérard Redoules--a master of the craft--this painting won first prize for decorative art at an exhibition on Jean de la Fontaine in Château-Thierry. After graduating from the École Supérieure des Arts Appliqués in Paris, he specialized in creating Japanese lacquer furniture before fully dedicating himself to painting. His work is very time-consuming; he plays with transparency by layering varnishes. This unique piece on wood is monogrammed in the lower left corner.
