A beautiful Louis XV chest of drawers made of solid mahogany, with a curved front and three drawers arranged in three rows. It rests on four scroll-shaped legs; the lower rails are scalloped and adorned with a delicate half-round molding, the top is molded with a corbin spout, and the paneling is made of oak. It retains its original bronze fittings as well as its iron box locks with a key. Extremely rare, it bears eight hallmarks from the 1722 Nantes guild on the drawer fronts. Dated to the first half of the 18th century. In very good condition; conservative restoration carried out by an experienced cabinetmaker; wax finish. The Nantes Guild hallmark was an iron mark consisting of a half-hermine of Brittany and a half-fleur-de-lis of France; five different Guild hallmarks have been recorded on Nantes
