Description

A striking French Art Deco pedestal table dating from the 1920s, showcasing the bold geometric forms and luxurious material contrasts that define the era. The design combines a sleek black lacquered finish with polished chrome supports, creating a sophisticated interplay of light, reflection, and streamlined modernity. The square top is finished in black lacquer and rests upon three cylindrical chrome-plated columns arranged around a central support. These elegant vertical elements rise from a substantial stepped pedestal base, also finished in black lacquer and accented with finely painted red and gilt bands. The combination of glossy black surfaces and gleaming chrome reflects the machine-age aesthetic that became synonymous with high-style Art Deco interiors. Particularly noteworthy is the unusually heavy base, which provides exceptional stability while enhancing the table's architectural presence. Its compact footprint makes it ideal as a side table, lamp table, display pedestal, or occasional table in both period and contemporary settings. With its sculptural silhouette and refined material palette, this piece embodies the glamour and modernism of French Art Deco design.
