

Winged Spearhead--early Middle Ages, 8th-10th Centuries

400 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Metal

Length : 56,5 cm

Description

The so-called "winged spear," which was primarily used as a thrusting weapon and is often associated with the Normans, is in fact of Frankish Carolingian origin. Adopted by the Vikings, it continued to be used for both hunting and warfare until the Early Middle Ages. Provenance: former collection of Georges Savès

Dealer

Antiquité Triskel Figere

Généraliste

Tel : 06 34 55 05 19

22 rue Mozart

Llupia 66300