Description

A charming Italian oil-on-canvas painting, signed and dated 1866, bearing a red signature that reads "Silvie de Tommaso" on the base of the Medici vase. The composition depicts several putti playing around an imposing Medici vase adorned with neoclassical-inspired bas-reliefs. One of them is helping his companions climb, while another observes the scene, creating a composition full of movement and freshness. In the background stretch the gardens of an elegant Palladian villa adorned with monumental statues, flower beds, and a fountain. The luminous colors and the liveliness of the execution lend the work a particularly appealing character. Set in a large oval format, the painting is presented in its elegant wooden frame with gilded stucco and a palmette decoration in the spandrels. This work
