

19th-century Chinese Porcelain Ginger Jar

125 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Porcelain

Description

Blue-and-White Porcelain Ginger Jar - China, Qing Dynasty, 19th Century. Porcelain ginger jar from ancient China, dating from the Qing Dynasty (19th century). It features a continuous, hand-painted underglaze blue design (cobalt with a gray-blue hue), depicting a traditional lakeside landscape. One side depicts stylized mountains and coastal dwellings, while the other side reveals a poetic scene of fishermen in their boat. The shoulder of the jar is accented by a double geometric hatched frieze, characteristic of provincial export wares from this period. The body features a magnificent, dense network of natural crackles (crazing) deeply weathered by time, attesting to its age. The unglazed base reveals a raw, earthy clay body with its original small firing impurities. The neck also features a

Dealer

Accents Baroques

Jean François MARTIN - Antiquaire généraliste

Tel : 0675245191

Mobile : 06 75 24 51 91

9 route de Clermont

Brignac 34800

band of raw terracotta where the original lid was once sealed.H..16.5 cmShipping within France:
10 euros