Description

Large polychrome earthenware vase with floral relief decoration - 20th century Important decorative vase in polychrome glazed earthenware, baluster-shaped, resting on a circular base. The flared neck features an elegant cut-out, scalloped border, while two brown side handles adorn the upper portion. The particularly abundant decoration combines painted floral motifs in shades of green, blue, pink, and brown with a spectacular bouquet of flowers in high relief applied to the body. Roses, foliage, and various flowers are modeled and glazed in a fresh color palette dominated by blues, pinks, and greens. The surface shows glaze craquelure characteristic of its age, as well as some signs of wear and minor imperfections visible in the photographs. A highly decorative piece, notable
