Description

Vintage 14-karat gold ring in the shape of the Fleur-de-Lis of Anjou, adorned with 14 rose-cut diamonds set in silver and 4 emeralds of varying sizes and cuts. History of the Emerald The emerald has been one of the most prized gemstones since ancient times. In ancient Egypt, it was already being mined several thousand years ago and used to adorn jewelry. For centuries, its characteristic green color has been associated with nature, renewal, and life. Due to its rarity and exceptional color, it became a highly prized stone in royal and aristocratic jewelry. The Lily of Anjou The Lily of Anjou is one of the most iconic heraldic symbols of the House of Anjou. The stylized golden lilies appeared in the Anjou coat of arms, and during the reign of the Angevin kings of Hungary--notably Charles Robert and Louis I the Great--they became an integral part of the Hungarian royal emblem. Charles Robert's seal from 1323 notably features a heraldic depiction combining the lilies of Anjou with elements of the Hungarian coat of arms. The Anjou lily is therefore not merely a decorative motif: it evokes the royal past, noble tradition, and the world of European medieval jewelry and heraldic art. A vintage piece of jewelry adorned with this motif thus creates a special link between history and contemporary elegance. All of our jewelry is offered for sale after being carefully inspected, professionally cleaned, and prepared for sale. In accordance with current regulations, our products bear an official Hungarian hallmark--either historical or contemporary--in compliance with applicable European standards. Our store is located in downtown Budapest, where purchased jewelry can also be picked up in person during business hours. We offer fixed prices both in-store and on our website. The price includes shipping costs. We partner with the GLS delivery service.
