Description

Succumb to the sculptural charm of this rare antique fashion mannequin bust, dating from the mid-20th century (circa 1950). Unlike traditional fabric-covered models, this piece stands out for its molded and thermoformed wooden bust. Its ingenious technical design results in a hollow, lightweight torso with striking geometric purity. The wood boasts a sublime natural amber-honey patina, marked by the passage of time, which attests to its authenticity and its history in the atelier. The bust rests on an elegant, cream-colored turned wooden base, creating a chic, decidedly vintage two-tone contrast. A rare piece: Size 18. The center of the torso is stamped with the number 18, indicating that this is a workshop model intended for clothing made for young adults or older children. Mannequins of
