

Henry Lucien Cheffer, Locronan Church: A Breton Painting In Pencil, Charcoal, And Watercolor, Britt

380 EUR

Signature : Henry Lucien Cheffer

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Other

Description

A superb and delicate composition under glass by Henry Cheffer (1880-1957), depicting the interior of Saint-Ronan Church in Locronan (Finistère). It is ready to be displayed. Here, the artist has successfully captured the hushed and mystical atmosphere of this iconic site of Breton heritage with a masterful command of line, depth, and light, as well as the presence of Breton women in prayer. Its original frame shows a few minor signs of age. The artist, a French painter, engraver, and draftsman, came from a family of artists and was a first cousin of the sculptor Auguste Rodin. Deeply attached to Brittany, he created numerous scenes of daily life and seascapes there. Dimensions with frame: 54.8 x 47 cm. Dimensions of the print: 36 x 28.5 cm. Shipped with an invoice--fast, careful, and

Dealer

Antiquités Déquier

Généraliste

Mobile : 06 17 54 08 89

7 avenue du docteur Carrier

Saint-Marcellin 38160

highly secure. Buy with confidence: find our customers' reviews by searching for "Antiquités Déquier" on Google.