Description

Beautiful solid walnut weekly planner from the Empire period, brought back from Egypt, 19th century. This elegant piece features seven large drawers that open easily. It is adorned with bronze handles featuring lion motifs inspired by ancient Egypt. The side panels are accentuated by flat columns, and it rests on attractive square legs. The top is crowned with a cornice, and the entire piece features a beautiful finish that highlights the warmth and magnificent grain of the walnut. Fully restored in our workshop, this seven-drawer chest is in perfect condition. Its understated and refined style makes it a piece that is both practical and decorative, ideal for a bedroom or a home with character.
