Description

A rare pair of table lamps cast in bronze using the lost-wax technique, with mercury-gilded bases; in the center, two female figures in Greek dress with intricate hairstyles and a wealth of detail, all retaining their original patina. Paris, 1790-1800; height 75 cm. Electrified in the 1900s with goose-neck-colored silk lampshades, height 45 cm, diameter 55 cm; total height of lamps with lampshades 120 cm. The quality of the product is absolutely exceptional: the mercury gilding and the extraordinary clarity of the figures attest to the excellence of Parisian cabinetmaking and goldsmithing of the era, making these luminous sculptures a prestigious art investment.
