Description

An elegant and refined display case upholstered in high-quality havana leather, featuring exceptionally meticulous craftsmanship. The front opens with two large glass doors with bronze frames, which can be locked. The interior features four height-adjustable glass shelves, allowing the display to be easily adapted to various collectibles. The back panel, entirely lined with mirror, adds depth and brightness and beautifully showcases porcelain, bronzes, glassware, and objets d'art. The display case is topped with a beautiful veined red marble slab, whose tones harmonize perfectly with the tan leather and bronze frames. With its remarkable craftsmanship, choice of materials, and especially its beautiful leather upholstery, this display cabinet evokes the work of the great Parisian design houses of the second half of the 20th century, notably Maison Jansen or a manufacturer of comparable quality. As no markings or stamps have been identified to date, this attribution remains to be confirmed. Very attractive appearance and in excellent original condition. Dimensions: height 138 cm - width 83.5 cm - depth 25 cm. Its shallow depth of just 25 cm also makes it a piece of furniture that is particularly easy to incorporate into an interior, while still offering a generous display surface.
