Rare Art Deco Porcelain Plate With Hand-painted Radiating Design, Like New

140 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Porcelain

Diameter : 25,5 cm

Description

Rare Art Deco porcelain dinner plate, 1925, but possibly older (?)...Hand-painted geometric design, applied with a turntable. Radiating rosette design, with alternating rays in water green, forest green, powder pink, and brick red converging toward a deep black center, matching the wide outer band...Raised filletwork and a rim border applied in fine gold (some wear along the rim). Minuscule irregularities in the lines and color reserves (barely visible to the naked eye) attest to handcrafted work from a "on-white" decorative workshop or an art studio at a department store of the era...A magnificent piece of work of infinite precision! No manufacturer's mark or signature (Paris, Limoges...?). Superb condition, no cracks, no chips. Diameter = 25.5 cm; Weight = 561 grams. Careful shipping
