Description

A beautiful zoomorphic bottle made of glazed earthenware from the Kéraluc factory in Quimper, featuring a rooster design created by Pierre Toulhoat (1923-2014) in the 1950s. The bottle has a particularly expressive shape, with the rooster modeled in relief and the head forming the stopper. The hand-painted polychrome design delicately highlights the animal's plumage, crest, and tail. It is signed "Keraluc Quimper France" on the underside. Dimensions: height 31 cm; width 15.5 cm. Condition: excellent condition. The original cork stopper is in good condition and fits snugly.
