Description

Iridescent blown glass vase attributed to the Ernst Steinwald & Cie glassworks (Bohemia, now the Czech Republic), made around 1915-1925. It features an elegant optical design with a blue droplet motif, known to collectors as "Diamon". This relatively scarce design is appreciated by collectors of Bohemian glass from the Art Nouveau period. Attractive baluster shape with a flared neck. Glass with iridescent reflections in peacock shades of blue, green, and gold. Polished base, unsigned, as with most pieces from this maker. Perfect condition. Height: 16 cm Maximum diameter: 12 cm
