Description

"Gémeaux" secretary desk by Guillerme and Chambron, produced by Votre Maison, France, 1960s. An elegant piece of furniture made of solid oak and natural light-blond oak veneer with a waxed finish. The left side features a secretary section consisting of a niche serving as a bookcase, a drop-down flap held in place by two leather straps that reveals a desk area, and three drawers. The right side, intended for storage, features four shelves and closes with a large door. This piece can be used as a secretary cabinet or a bar cabinet/sideboard. The piece is adorned with solid oak handles and ceramic accents created by Boleslaw Danikowski, a ceramic artist closely associated with the work of Guillerme and Chambron.
