Description

Charming Louis XV-style chest of drawers made of solid wood, featuring molded and carved details. Circa 1900. The front features three drawers with finely chased gilded brass fronts and handles. It is topped by a molded solid wood top featuring a corbin spout that echoes the piece's curved lines. It rests on long, slightly arched legs that end in small scrolls. Perfectly stable. The lower rail is beautifully scrolled and carved with a floral relief design. It features sides with molded panels known as "bishop's chapel" panels. In excellent overall condition with a beautiful patina and waxed finish. Ideal dimensions for an entryway or bedroom.
