Description

A seated bronze statue of Shakyamuni Buddha, from Thailand and dating from the 19th century, in the Lan Na tradition influenced by Tibetan art. The figure is set on an openwork altar throne and retains an antique patina resulting from its history of use. The Buddha is depicted in a meditative pose, with a serene expression and powerful proportions. The traditional lost-wax casting technique and the preserved internal core attest to its antique origin. The thick, heavy bronze weighs 13.3 kg. The surface features a natural mineral patina, oxidation, and signs of wear consistent with its age. The condition is that of an antique bronze, with wear and surface alterations; no cosmetic restoration has been reported. Dimensions: height 52 cm, width 36.5 cm. Weight: 13.3 kg. Reference: SKU 512.
