Description

A spectacular and elegant bed valance (or canopy front) in the Louis XVI style, crafted in the 19th century. This piece of woodcarving and joinery stands out for its rich ornamentation and the quality of its reliefs. Curved in shape, the valance features a lavish oval cartouche at its center, encircled by a generous garland of roses and finely carved flowers. The panel is flanked by foliage scrolls, acanthus leaves, and rosette motifs in the spandrels--elements characteristic of the neoclassical decorative repertoire. The top decoration is crowned by cascades of draped flowers that fall gracefully down the sides. The carved wooden structure retains a beautiful patina with alternating matte and burnished sections, highlighting the depth of the carving. An ideal centerpiece to crown an alcove or a four-poster
