

Hervé Raspail - Verrerie D'allex Hand-blown Glass Perfume Bottle, 1990

120 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Glass paste

Description

A stunning piece of contemporary glass art, ovoid and flattened in shape, crafted from solid transparent glass that encases an exquisitely delicate internal design. The central motif, composed of interlaced blue and turquoise lines reminiscent of feathers, is enhanced by a contrasting orange-red sheen and delicate interspersed flecks (gold flakes/powder). The bottle is complete with its original stopper made of solid transparent glass. Engraved with a point "Alex", "N 79" (serial or piece number) 1990 and "H. Raspail" In perfect condition, no chips, no cracks. Height: 14 cm Width: 8.5 cm Weight: 0.600 kg The story of Hervé Raspail is inextricably linked to that of the famous Verrerie d'Allex, located in the Drôme region. His combed and reticulated designs often evoke nature:

Dealer

LA COMTESSE G

Antiquités

Mobile : 0767281188

32 rue docteur Claussat

Clermont-Ferrand 63100

marine structures, cosmic movements, or patterns of peacock feathers. He has perfected the art of creating interlayered designs. He traps colored powders, combed filaments, or gold and silver leaf between several layers of transparent glass.