Antique Church Candleholder In Gilded Bronze/brass, In The Neo-gothic Style, 19th Century

Description

This large candleholder features particularly elaborate decoration, inspired by medieval liturgical furnishings. The upper part is adorned with a crown-shaped, crenellated candle holder, characteristic of the Neo-Gothic decorative style. The cylindrical shaft, richly chiseled, is decorated with geometric cross-hatch patterns forming diamond shapes, combined with friezes of foliage. The entire piece rests on a tripod base adorned with bas-reliefs. Each side features a religious figure, likely a saint or an angel in prayer. The three legs end in lion's claws, lending the piece a striking decorative presence. An interesting piece due to its size, the richness of its decoration, and its inspiration drawn directly from medieval art and religious furnishings. Period: Second Empire, 19th
