Description

Cabaret table, also known as a trough table, made of solid cherry wood, restored, dating from the first half of the 19th century. It opens with a drawer on the front and features a tabletop that serves as a tray, as well as a hexagonal shelf within the base. The cherry wood has a walnut-colored patina. A charming little side table, ideal as an end table or a tray table. An original and rare design resting on a plinth. In very good condition; the cherry wood has a beautiful, walnut-colored waxed patina.
