Description

This large dish features an elegant hand-painted design depicting a pastoral scene, reflecting the care taken in its creation and the craftsmanship of the Limoges workshops. The mark on the reverse, featuring the green star under a crown, allows this piece to be precisely dated to between 1899 and 1913, a period corresponding to an important phase in the production of the Latrille Frères factory. The painter's signature confirms that the decoration was done by hand and gives this piece a unique character. It thus stands out from pieces decorated industrially using decals or chromolithography. A beautiful piece of Limoges porcelain from the early 20th century, particularly notable for its painted decoration and signature. Period: early 20th century, between 1899 and 1913.
